[Thiru K. M. Subramaniam] [1975 நவம்பர் 10

paise and for chemical industries two or three paise and they say that it would be uneconomical if they do not get such a rate. The market price of aluminium is Rs. 15,000 per tonne. The rate fixed by them is Rs. 5,000 per tonne. So also chemical industries are making a huge profit.

Then, I am told that some management expert is coming here to rationalise the administration. I want to know whether he would examine the question of reducing the cost of production. We want that the electricity should be supplied to the people at a minimum cost. With these words, I conclude my speech.
